THE STORY OF INGLISTON

In 1958 the Royal Highland and Agricultural Society purchased the Ingliston Estate on the outskirts of Edinburgh as a permanent site for their Royal Highland and Agricultural Show. The estate and Ingliston House had been a private estate until it had been operated as a golf course. With the rapid expansion of Edinburgh airport part of the golf course was sold for the development of a new runway and what remained was taken over by the RHAS.

Shortly after this happened A.K. Stevenson one of the great pioneers in the organisation of motor sport in Scotland approached the Society along with David Murray the founder and Patron of the famous motor racing team Ecurie Ecosse about utilising plans for perimeter roads as a motor racing circuit but the plans got nowhere. Some time later in the early 1960's however, kart racing was allowed using part of the interior road network.

At the end of 1964 the only existing Scottish motor racing circuit, Charterhall, was at the end of its shelf-like and it was unlikely to have a circuit licence for the 1965 season and there ensued a search around Scotland for a new site on which Scottish Motor Racing Club could run motor racing. Various sites were considered and eventually the Ingliston site was again looked at by Ian Scott Watson the competition secretary of SMRC as a result of which the Highland Society agreed on the development of the perimeter roads firstly into a short circuit and later a slightly longer circuit and this is the circuit which exists today.

At the time the great Jim Clark had been World Motor Racing Champion and was President of Scottish Motor Racing Club. he was approached and agreed to become a shareholder in a new company called Scotcircuits Ltd., which raised the money to build the necessary infrastructure for a motor racing circuit at Ingliston. In addition to Clark the directors included Scott Watson, and a John Romanes, himself a racing driver and chemical company owner. The International construction company Wimpey laid down the track which utilised an experimental surface which has survived through the years intact.

So it was in April 1965 the Ingliston Motor Racing Circuit hosted its first race meeting in front of a huge crowd. Since then Scottish Motor Racing Club has run all of the motor race meetings which have included rounds in some of Britain's most prestigious motor racing championships. Many up and coming racing drivers from all over Britain have raced on the circuit and every young Scottish driver since has cut his teeth on the 1.03 mile circuit.

From the beginning the name of Jim Clark has been linked to the Ingliston circuit and though he only raced there on one occasion - in a charity event using an electric milk delivery float - he was active in the running of the circuit until his death in a racing accident in 1968.

On the 25th anniversary of his death one of the toughest and fastest curves on the circuit was named Clark Curve as a permanent reminder of one of Scotland's greatest ever drivers and Indianapolis winners.

In 1994 Scottish Motor Racing Club will run their thirtieth consecutive seasons racing on the circuit making it one of the longest running circuits in Great Britain.

Car and Motorcycle Racing is dangerous and persons attending this track do so entirely at their own risk. It is a condition of admission that all persons having any connection with the promotion and/or organisation and/or conduct of the meeting. Including the owners of the land and the drivers and owners of the vehicles and passengers in the vehicles, are absolved from all liability arising out of accidents causing damage or personal injury (whether fatal or otherwise) however caused to spectators, ticket holders or officials.

Basic Driving Techniques

Various courses are available for the complete beginner to develop confidence and driving technique in complete safety away from the busy public highway, leading to driving test and beyond.

Towing Skill Course

With the development of leisure time activities there has been a considerable increase in the number of drivers towing caravans, speed boats, horse boxes and light trailers. A course is now available for a driver to be taught the correct procedure in towing which will allow a driver to experience many towing related problems first hand in complete safety. The most important being trailer wobble, which can be quite frightening experiencing it for the first time, either on a motorway or a road with oncoming traffic, altogether a very dangerous situation.

Junior Drive

Learning to drive in many ways can be compared to swimming. The ability to do both well could save your life. There is a strong belief the earlier one gains confidence the safer you will be. It takes many miles of driving experience to develop accident avoidance skills of the older responsible insurance friendly driver. As the accident figures show 17-25 are the most vulnerable ages of a drivers life. It has been apparent for some time children driving our Go-karts at Ingliston possess almost automatic driving skills at a very early age. Our aim is to develop a continuity of that skill producing more responsible young drivers. The opportunity now exists for under 17 year olds to get full instruction with the availability to practice driving skill with qualified supervision.

Motor Biking

Utilising the comprehensive roads network within the motor racing circuit at the south end of the Royal Highland Centre - courses are available to learn riding skills from the beginners standard through to speed riding. Existing riders can have the opportunity to book time within a safe private environment to enjoy the pleasure of riding motor bikes.

1991 LE MANS WINNING MAZDA 787B

NEW MAZDA RX-7

Le Mans '91 saw history in the making, when Mazda passed the chequered flag and into the record books.

The unbeatable combination of speed, reliability and fuel efficiency came from Mazda rotary power. Now with a change in regulations, the rotary engine will no longer be seen on the streets of Le Mans. But, you will be relieved to hear, it still has a place on the streets of Britain.

Now '92 sees a new world better, a product of the same skill and technology that won Le Mans. The new RX-7 has a sequential twin turbo rotary engine delivering 237 BHP and a 0-62 MPH supercar time of 5.3 seconds.

This turbine smooth performance is linked to an alloy, 4 wheel double wishbone suspension system with dynamic geometry control. With a perfect 50:50 weight distribution, the handling is immediate and totally precise. The expressive aerodynamic body boasts a CD of 0.31.

As reassuring as it is exhilarating, the RX-7 sports a driver's side airbag, side impact door bars and ABS brakes as standard. Within the cockpit you'll find leather upholstery, air conditioning, cruise control and electric power for all main functions.

So, if you've always dreamt of driving a Le Mans car, you now have two choices. The long hard road of dedication and self sacrifice or the short soft one to McKay Mazda.
